11:33 PM me: fucking straub has money from his parents buying drugs with it with his damned wife being loud and drunk Andrew: uhm
hes there?
11:34 PM me: yeah
Andrew: uhm
i dont want to be a dick but why me: why not?
doesn't cost me anything to have him in the living room I'm leaving in a few days anyway Andrew: because hes loud and drunk and owes you money and is spending it on himself instead and has another place to go 11:35 PM me: because he came pretty close to giving me money the other day, gave me a check but then asked for it back still has two checks coming might be able to guilt him into giving me something Andrew: dont get your hopes up me: he's given me amounts of money before Andrew: hes given me multiple checks for the money he owes me

11:36 PM they all bounce and rack up his debt even more me: also he got me some subaxones from rebecca which helped me to get off smack addiction

11:46 PM Andrew: nice the conclusion is fitting 11:47 PM me: absolutely ah, Straub and the wife are now going back to her place where he will apparently be living when he moves out of here and the circle of life is complete 11:51 PM Andrew: ever heard of a band called "Pussy Galore"?
11:53 PM me: don't think so Andrew: listening to this album of theirs fora few days now 11:54 PM Dial 'M' for Motherfucker
I think you might dig them they are the punk rock equivalent of atari teenage riot in a sense 11:55 PM me: will check it out now, then say no more Andrew: you need to play it loud it sounds like it was designed to be unlistenable in places 11:56 PM me: Ihmm
Andrew: but it also consistenyl makes me want to run around and punch people great commute music 11:58 PM me: doesn't sound like that would make for good commute music at all what with the running around and punching people 11:59 PM Andrew: true enough i suppose
